Dear Bucks,

First, wishing you were here. Really you are such a wonderful traveling "Mate". The flight from New York to London was a pleasant one. A few minutes after take-off I was asleep for only one half hour. Unfortunately it was all that I had. I'm one hop from being a zombie. The first thing I decided to do was to go to the National Gallery. I was surprised to run into Bill and Franklin W.

So now we are having lunch and a few minutes we will take off for Copenhagen.

Nothing of exciting has happened of course you know London. What is there to see.

I shall be thinking of you always with all my love,
Poo Poo.
Yohanna.
