

Sally Fairweather

Shirley G. Hardin

FAIRWEATHER-GARNETT GALLERY

1019 Lincoln Avenue, Evanston, Illinois • University 4-0767

December 21, 1954

Mr. John Rhoden
286 Eighth Avenue
New York, N.Y.

Dear Richards and John:

It was so nice talking to you the other day. Needless to say, we are anxiously awaiting the photographs with all information about each piece.

Being into the Christmas season with the gallery up to its eyebrows, I can't find a little book that we bought for the express purpose of figuring rates of exchange on foreign money. This may sound stupid to you, but it would expedite matters greatly if you would do me the favor of telling me how much I owe you in dollars for the shipment of "Gerytids". It says on the ticket 23,270 lire. Yes? Yes!

Now on to the show. The minute the photographs arrive, we will take measurements in each room and you will hear from us pronto as to how many pieces and which ones you should ship. As we have always done, the artist pays for shipment to us and we pay for the return shipment. This has always seemed fair to both parties and has always worked out very nicely.

There is nothing to do now but wait for the photos, so hurry, hurry, hurry!

Our very best to all of you and have the merriest of Christmases.

Cordially,

Shirley

Shirley Hardin

SGH/su

P.S. Please tell Arthur that we received his letter, and will write him today or tomorrow.

