

Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts

Thomas Eakins

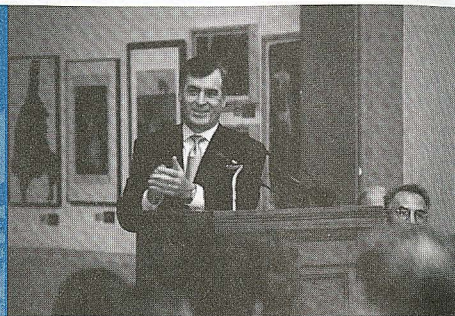

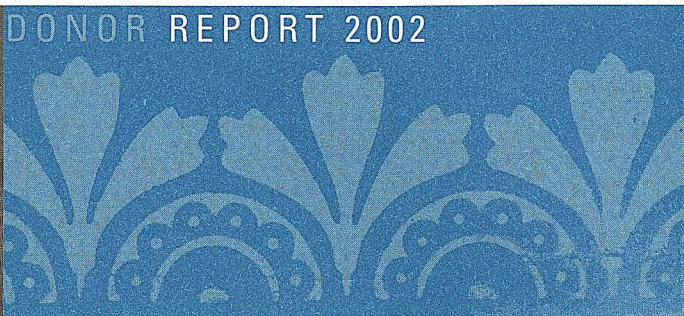

Dear Friends of the Academy,

Included in this issue of Preview is an Honor Roll of Donors recognizing all of the individuals, corporations, foundations and government agencies that made a contribution to the Pennsylvania Academy in fiscal year 2002, from July 1, 2001 through June 30, 2002. On behalf of the Academy's Board of Trustees, I extend heartfelt thanks to each of our supporters whose donations, whether large or small, have made a real difference in the Academy's teaching, exhibiting and collecting programs.

There are many reasons to be grateful for progress on a number of fronts, particularly in the current uncertain economic climate. The famous mosaic Dream Garden, designed by Academy alumnus Maxfield Parrish and executed by Louis Comfort Tiffany, will remain permanently housed in Philadelphia's Curtis Center because of the magnificent support of the Pew Charitable Trusts, along with Bryn Mawr College, the University of the Arts and the University of Pennsylvania, each of whom, together with the Academy, held an interest in the artwork and sacrificed any monetary gain so that the mosaic could remain in Philadelphia, under the stewardship of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts.

The Campus Capital Campaign stands at $30.5 million toward its $35 million goal. Fund raising was kicked off with a $15 million matching grant from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's Redevelopment Assistance Capital Program under Governor Tom Ridge's administration in the fall of 2000. The entire refurbishment of the building directly across Cherry Street at Broad will be ready for full occupancy by the time of the Academy's 200th Anniversary Celebration, marked by a glamorous gala, in January 2005. By September 2003, graduate students and faculty will be working and teaching in spectacular new classrooms and studios on three floors of the 11-story loft building now known as the Samuel M.V. Hamilton Building. A magnificent $5 million gift was made by one of Philadelphia's greatest philanthropists, Dorrance H. Hamilton, whose husband Sam was Chairman of the Board and a Trustee for many years prior to his death in 1998.

In addition to Mrs. Hamilton's generous gift, additional seven-figure contributions have been received from the Lenfest and the Annenberg Foundations. Longstanding friend of the Academy, Marilyn Steinbright of the Arcadia Foundation, has funded the Arcadia Fine Arts Library, to be housed in the Samuel M.V. Hamilton Building. The Women's Board, now serving the Pennsylvania Academy for more than half a century, has committed $500,000 for a special exhibition gallery on the new campus. We are especially delighted that two new donors came forward last year. The Horace Goldsmith Foundation and the Delaware River Port Authority (DRPA) each made very generous contributions for the new campus. The DRPA also responded generously as the principal sponsor for the American Sublime exhibition.

A number of attractive naming opportunities remain, ranging from $5,000 for a studio in the Hamilton Building to $2.5 million for the Grand Staircase and Foyer in the historic museum building. To make a gift, or to receive more information about the new campus, please contact Carol Forte, Director of the Capital Campaign, at 215-972-6196 or caf@pafa.org.

Once again, sincere thanks for your generous support of Philadelphia's foremost center for the study and exhibition of the fine arts of America.

Sincerely yours,

Derek A. Gillman

Planning your Gift to the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts

Since its beginnings almost two centuries ago, the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts has received generous support from a distinguished group of friends who have, with their gifts and personal commitment, built it into one of the finest collections of American art and one of the most prestigious schools of fine art in the world.

One way to maximize your support is by remembering the Academy in your will. A bequest by will perpetuates your long-standing commitment to the institution and helps assure that its riches will be there for future generations to enjoy.

For more information on bequests or other gift opportunities, please contact the Development Office, 118 N. Broad Street, Philadelphia, PA 19102, or by telephone at 215-972-7600.
