Richards dear,

Sometime earlier this morning I wrote to you. Many times I write you many mental notes. For sure that you have received many of them. They were very strong and I received a response. I do hope that you have realized this kind of contact. It has been these responses that I've received from you that have guided me in my search for doing better sculpture. Of course, my dear, my behavior thinking and love for you. You'll never know my heart because my outer action sometimes is perplexing.

In smoking now on a coincidence. One time you made me so mad I didn't know what to do. I looked you dead in the eyes and said to myself "See how I love that girl Richards. Will she ever know."

It seems that I'll be in speculations for a couple days. I've decided to be alone in a simple Japanese Inn. Here no one understand a word of English. I thought I knew how to say Thank you, good morning. Arigato gozaimasu, oyo. To my surprise they, the two old ladies rushed out and brought me a pan of water soap and an apple.

Please be patient darling
I'm on my way home.
