Dear John:

It was wonderful to have had you in Athens. After trying for so many years to get you to come, I was beginning to think that we might never be successful--but thank you for coming. We enjoyed every moment of your stay and only regret that it could not have been longer.

It was a long, long week, but at the windup on Friday afternoon it was apparent that the SREB Seminar had met with great success. You, of course, are responsible for a large measure of that success. For the contributions that you made, we are most grateful--and I know that I speak for the Fellows of the Seminar as well as for myself and members of this staff. In addition, we are so pleased that you met with the student groups. I have heard many, many fine reports from the students and the other faculty members.

Your work looked awfully good John. Many thanks for bringing it down.

We were disappointed that Richanda could not have accompanied you on this trip. Perhaps we can persuade you (and her) to return in the not too distant future.

John, it was a privilege to have had you here. Many thanks for coming. You know that the welcome mat is always out for you.

Most sincerely,

Lamar Dodd, Head
Department of Art
